George Washington's Monumental Presidential Trivia Challenge Jonathan Ozanne 2014-02-12 A massive trivia book with only ten fewer questions than the Washington monument is feet tall! This book provides a grand trivia tour of the American presidents from Washington through Obama. It features 545 multiple choice trivia questions (and answers) about the 44 U.S. presidents. The 545 questions fit into categories as follows: 15 exciting questions to start the book; 7 questions about presidential birthdays; 97 questions covering every presidential election through the 2012 election; 23 questions about presidential programs; 21 questions about books and movies by or about presidents; 11 questions on presidential scandals; 15 questions on presidential pets; 22 questions about who was president when; 31 questions about presidential nicknames; 297 biographical questions (generally 5 to 10 questions about each president); and 6 questions about ex-presidents. In many cases the answers go into greater detail about a particular question. The answers are backed by an extensive bibliography. The questions are non-partisan with generally good things to say about any given president.

The Great Book of Crazy President Trivia Bill O'Neill 2017-10 Do you love American history? Do you enjoy learning about the US Presidents? If so, then this President Trivia book is for you. The Great Book of Crazy President Trivia is filled with many lesser-known facts about the American Presidents. It is filled with great stories of the US Presidents that you will not find in any US history books. This President Trivia book is going to let you see the Presidents of the past in a whole new light. Learn about their personal lives, the challenges they faced, and their great accomplishments. When you read this trivia book, you are going to learn not only about the Presidents of the US but about the history of the US as well. When we learn about the Presidents, most often we learn about a few of their accomplishments that they had while in office, however, this book is going to show you the good, the bad, and the ugly when it comes to the lives of these men. At the end of each chapter you will find trivia questions and answers that are going to allow you to learn even more about the men that have been in charge of The United States of America. You are going to learn how war not only challenged these men but how it affected who they were. You will see how great decisions were made as well as some that were not so great. In the end, you are going to find that these men were in fact just men who took on a huge responsibility. Some of them were successful some of them failed miserably but each of them with their own hands, molded the US into what it is today.

The Presidents Club Nancy Gibbs 2012-04-17 The New York Times bestselling history of the private relationships among the last thirteen presidents—the partnerships, private deals, rescue missions, and rivalries of those select men who served as commander in chief. The Presidents Club, established at Dwight Eisenhower's inauguration by Harry Truman and Herbert Hoover, is a complicated place: its members are bound forever by the experience of the Oval Office and yet are eternal rivals for history's favor. Among their secrets: How Jack Kennedy tried to blame Ike for the Bay of Pigs. How Ike quietly helped Reagan win his first race in 1966. How Richard Nixon conspired with Lyndon Johnson to get elected and then betrayed him. How Jerry Ford and Jimmy Carter turned a deep enmity into an alliance. The unspoken pact between a father and son named Bush. And the roots of the rivalry between Clinton and Barack Obama. Time magazine editors and presidential historians Nancy Gibbs and Michael Duffy offer a new and revealing lens on the American presidency, exploring the club as a hidden instrument of power that has changed the course of history.

Answers to Questions You've Never Asked Joseph Pimenti 2017-11-09 The #1 bestselling trivia collection with bizarre facts to entertain you for hours, from the creator of YouTube's RealLifeLore. Where can I move to so that I'm never tempted by McDonald's again? How far into the Pacific does Trump's wall stretch? If Plato came back to life, what would he think of modern democracy? Why do all empires fail? Who decides what countries are allowed to participate in the Olympics? What makes Finland so great? When you take the most absurd parts of history, science, economics, and geography, you end up with a pretty confusing picture of humanity. Why do we have borders, what's the furthest you can get from the ocean, how do you qualify as a country, and why did Vikings wear those silly helmets? These are just a few of the strange questions that bounce around the head of YouTube sensation Joseph Pimenti, aka RealLifeLore. In his debut book, Pimenti explores the nonsensical humor of the universe with in-depth analysis of empires, economies, and ecosystems as he helps answer the ridiculous. Why, you ask? Because someone has to. Using line drawings, graphs, and charts, Pimenti not only details the absurd—he also provides explanations on why things are . . . and why they aren't.

Oh...Those Hot Lazy Days of Summer Bernadine C. Taylor 2003-11 Presidential Hopefuls (1788-2008): Who Won, Who Lost, And Why is an extraordinary book that answers any questions the reader might have with respect not only to the 43 Presidents of the United States but to those hopefuls who lost in their attempts to win a presidential election. Dr. Sher has written a chapter on each President, two for Grover Cleveland since he won two elections that were not consecutive. Each chapter includes sections dealing with all of American history's presidential elections and their results, the winner's political background that placed him a position to be a candidate in the first place, introduction and political experience of those who ran against the victorious President, and each President's legacy which reveals both the good and the bad that he experienced while in office. Chapter 44 is entitled "On The Road To 2008," and is the author's perspective on the 2008 presidential election, with introductions of all the hopefuls and their platforms as they strive to win their party's nomination for the election scheduled for November 2008. The "Conclusion" chapter, in addition to testing the hypotheses that Sher set forth in his "Introduction" introduces the reader to five respectable presidential ranking systems, and to Sher's own ranking of the greatest and weakest Presidents in American history based on his criteria for presidential greatness. The book ends with three interesting Appendices: one dealing with presidential trivia; another with nasty remarks made by former Presidents against an incumbent President; and the third, shortcomings, failures, or criticisms leveled on even those Presidents who head the list of our greatest.

Presidential Trivia, 3rd Edition Richard Lederer 2017-02-21 A freshly updated look at everything you never knew you wanted to know about our country's illustrious line of commanders in chief—updated to include fascinating facts on our brand new 45th president, Donald Trump. You'll find more than 1,000 fun and engaging facts in this book about each and every one of America's forty-four different presidents (forty-five if you count Grover Cleveland, with his two nonconsecutive terms, twice). This revised edition has been updated to include new facts about our most recently elected president. Want to know which president appeared on the nation's very first TV broadcast? (Herbert Hoover, before he was president, in 1927.) How about George Washington's presidential salary? (An exorbitant, at least in eighteenth-century dollars, $25,000.) Who first pardoned a presidential turkey? (Harry Truman, in a debilitating fit of guilt.) We don't know about you, but we can't get enough of this stuff!

Richard Lederer is the author of more than thirty-five books about language, history, and humor, including his best-selling Anguished English series. He is founding cohost of A Way with Words on public radio, and his syndicated column "Looking at Language" appears in newspapers and magazines throughout the United States. He has been named International Punster of the Year and Toastmasters International's Golden Gavel winner.

Presidential Hopefuls (1788-2008) Aubrey J. Sher 2008-03-01 Ever since the girls were young it has been a challenge to get them to go to bed at a reasonable hour I would tell them to go to sleep and to give the example I would do likewise (ok I love reading my science fiction books quietly)but they would all leave their bed one by one in a matter of minutes (I always thought that they must have some radar implant done when I was not looking) to curl up under the covers with me popping questions such as " Do you think women love perfumes what kind did they have 5,000 years ago, how did Noah built his ship in time, is God from another planet, why volcanoes exist if they are so dangerous, was Columbus really without a computer on his ship, why was he not afraid, if I were born 3,000 years ago what kind of life would I have faced, is death the end where do we go from there and so on I started to do some research during my free time in order to answer correctly and so I started to write down answers and used them over and over each time the questions would make a come back as a point of reference. Over the years, we went on many philosophical quests and solved some life mysteries, but one thing is sure we never got bored. So many questions and so many answers were found while searching for what to answer to their legitimate quest. They still come to curl up with me but not as often as when they were younger. Now it is after a rainy day, bringing a cup of coffee or apple cider they still come when it is cold out there or stormy and quest continue as teens they are very interested in relationships so I thought that writing about all those discussions we had at night might help some other teen out there that the mom would be too busy to answer the questions. So I choose to write on the subject of marriage.
